In pit, ame, tell us: is Mr. Law with you?" "There was a little pause; he was racking his brains for some more moving mode of appeal when the answer came in another voice—in the voice of Judith Trine, clear, musical, efferwescent with sardonic humor; "He at peace, little one—bleat no nore! Mr Law is with us—and safe— th, quite, quite safe!"

In dumb consternation Barcus sought the countenance of Rose. Her eyes, meeting his, were blank with despair. He shock his head helplessly and let his hands dangle idly between his
